SHAW'S COURT.—Mr. Jeremy White, one of Cromwell's domestic chaplains, was so bold as to make his addresses to Cromwell's young daughter, the Lady Frances. The young lady did not discourage him, but in so religious a court, this gallantry could not be carried on without being discovered. The Protector was told of it, and was much concerned thereat; he ordered the person who told him, to keep a strict lookout, promising, if he could give him any positive proofs, he should be well rewarded.

The spy followed his business so closely, that in a little time he dogged Jerry White (as he was generally called) to the lady's chamber; and running immediately to the Protector, to acquaint him that they were together. Oliver, in a rage rose red to the chamber, and, going in hastily, found Jerry on his knees, either kissing the lady's hand, or having kissed it. Cromwell in a fury asked what was the meaning of that posture before his daughter Frances?

White, with great presence of mind, said "May it please your highness, I have a long time courted that young gentlewoman, thy lady's woman, and cannot prevail; I was therefore praying her ladyship to intercede for me."

The Protector, turning to the young woman, exclaimed, "What is the meaning of this, huzzy? why, do you refuse Mr. White the honor he would do you? he is my friend, and I expect you would treat him as such."

"My lady's woman, with a very low courtesy, replied, "If Mr. White intends me that honor, I shall not be against him."

"Say'st thou so, my lass?" cried Cromwell. "Call Grebiwhi; this business shall be done before I go out of the room."

Mr. White had gone too far to retract; his brother parson came; and Jerry and the lady's woman were married in the presence of the Protector, who gave her £500; which, with the money she had saved, made Mr. White easy in his circumstances, except that he never loved his wife, nor she him, although they lived together nearly fifty years.

ANECDOTE OF GOV. SEWARD.—Governor, in his last Wine Press, tells an old story, which some persons may not have heard. When Governor of New York, Seward, in those pre-railroad days, had occasion to visit a certain part of the State and accordingly mounted upon the box of the mail-coach, in order that he might enjoy his cigar and the scenery. The driver was an inquisitive fellow, and his passenger humored him.

"Land agent?" said the driver.

"No," quoth Steward.

"Selling goods?"

"No."

"Travelling preacher?"

"No."

"Circus?"

"No."

"What than?" said the baffled driver, "what is your business?"

"Governor," replied Seward, with a tranquil puff.

"Governor of what?"

"Governor of the State of New York," replied the smoking passenger with composure.

"Get out!"

"Well, I can convince you of that," said Seward, "for here is a man on the road with whom I am acquainted;" and as the stage passed by, he saluted him. "Good morning, Mr Bunker; I want to ask you a question—am I now the Governor of the State of New York?"

"No, by thunder!" was Bunker's unexpected answer.

"Who is, then?" said the startled smoker.

"Thurlow Weed."

EIGHT CHILDREN AT A BIRTH. A Trumbull Co., Ohio, correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune is responsible for the following statement:

On the 2d of August Mrs. Timothy Bradley gave birth to eight children—three boys and five girls. They are all living and are healthy, but quite small. Mr. B.'s family is increasing fast. He was married six years ago to Eunice Mowery, who weighed 273 pounds on the day of their marriage. She has given birth to two pairs of twins, and now eight more, making twelve children in six years. It seems strange, but nevertheless is true, Mrs. B. was a twin of three, her mother and father both being twins, and her grandmother the mother of five pair of twins.—Mrs. B. has named her boys after noted and distinguished men; one after the Hon. Joshua R. Giddings, who has given her a splendid gold medal; one after the Rev. Hon. Elijah Champlin, who has given her a deed of 50 acres of land, and the other after James Johnson, Esq., who gave her a cow. Mr. Bradley says it is profitable to have twins, as the neighbors have clothed the others ever since they were born.—Mr. B. is a poor, industrious laborer, but says he will not part with any of his children while he is able to work.

INCLINED TO BE QUARRESOME. "There was once a little, slim-built fellow, rich as a Jew, riding along a highway in the State of Georgia, when he overtook a man driving a drove of hogs by the help of a big, raw-boned, six-foot-two specimen of humanity. Stopping the last named individual, he accosted him:

"I say, are these your hogs?"

"No, sir; I'm to work by the month."

"What pay might you be getting, friend?"

"Ten dollars a month and whisky thrown in," was the reply.

"Well, look here, I'm a weak, little inoffensive man; and people are apt to impose upon me, d'ye see. Now, I'll give you twenty-five dollars a month to ride along with me and protect me," said Mr. Gardner. "But," he added, as a thought struck him, "how might you be in a fight?"

"Never fear licked in my life," rejoined six-footer.

"Just the man I want. Isn't a bargain?" queried Gardner.

Six-footer ruminated. "Twenty-five dollars—double wages—nothing to do but to ride around and smash a fellow's mug occasionally when he's easy."

Six-footer accepted.

They rode along till, just at night, they reached a village inn. Dismounting at the door, they went in. Gardner immediately singled out the biggest man in the room, and picked a fuss with him. After considerable promiscuous jawing, Gardner turned to his fighting friend, and intimated that the whipping of that man, had become a sad necessity. Six-footer peeled, went in, and came out first best.

The next night, at another hotel, the same scene was re-enacted—Gardner getting into a row with the biggest man in the place, and six-footer doing the fighting.

At last, on the third day, they came to a ferry kept by a huge, double-fisted man, who had never been licked in his life. Whilst crossing the river, Gardner, as usual, began to find fault and "blow." The ferryman naturally got mad, threw things around, and told him his opinion of their kind. Gardner then turned to his friend and broke the intelligence to him, "that he was sorry, but that it was absolutely necessary to thrash that ferryman."

Six-footer nodded his head, but said nothing. It was plainly to be seen that he did not relish the job, by the way he shrugged his shoulders, but there was no help for it. So when they reached the shore, they both stripped, and, at it they went. Up and down the bank, over the sand, into the water, they fought, scratched, gouged, bit, and rolled, till, at the end of an hour the ferryman gave in. Six-footer was triumphant, but it had been tough work. Jibing up to his employer, he scratched his head for a moment, and then said

"Look here, Mr Gardner, your salary sets mighty well, but—I'm—of—the—opinion—that you are inclined to be quarrelsome Here I've been with you but three days, and I've licked the three biggest men in the country!! I think this firm had better dissolve, for you see Mr Gardner, I'm afraid you're inclined to be quarrelsome, and I reckon I'll draw" —Tuskoma Gazette

What was Democracy Then

The following letter was written, not many years ago by even so hard a democrat as Judge Bronson of New York It is so extraordinary in its contrast with the present position of both wings of the Democratic party, and upon a question of power which is not changed by years, that it is worthy of being re-published It is dated July 15 1848 and was addressed to a gentleman who entirely agreed with the sentiment then and shamelessly repudiates it now The Judge says

Slavery can not exist where the law is no positive law to uphold it It is not necessary that it should be forbidden, it is enough that it is not specially authorized If the owners of slaves come with or sends them into any country State or Territory where slavery has not existed by law they will from that moment become freemen and will have as good a right to command the master as he will have to command them State laws have no extra authority and a law of Virginia which makes a man a slave here, cannot make him a slave in New York, nor beyond the Rocky Mountains

Entertaining no doubt on that question, I can see no occasion for asking Congress to legislate against the extension of Slavery into Free Territory and as a question of policy, I think I had better let it alone. If our Southern brethren wish to carry slaves to Oregon, New Mexico or California, they will be under the necessity of taking a law to warrant it, and that will then be a time for the Free States to resist by measures, I cannot doubt they would with unwavering firmness

I would not needlessly move this question, as it is one of an exciting nature which tends to sectional division, and may do us harm as a people I would leave it to the slaveholding States to decide for themselves, and on their own responsibility when, if ever, the matter shall be agitated in Congress

It may be that they will not wish to, and never move it at all—especially as it seems pretty generally agreed that neither Oregon, New Mexico California is adapted to slave labor But if our Southern brethren should make the question, we should have no choice but to meet it, and then whatever consequences may follow, I trust the people of the Free States will give it a united voice against allowing Slavery on a single foot of soil where it is not now authorized by law

I am very respectfully, your ob't servant,
GREENE C BRONSON

To Messrs JOHN COCHRANE and others, Committee

Mr Everett has given his Washington oration 183 times, and earned by it for the Mount Vernon Fund $36,783 Adding the $10,000 for his articles in the N Y Ledger, and various small contributions through him, his contributions to the fund lack but a trifle of $70,000—in a little over three years

A MATERNAL REDUCTION —According to one of the New York papers the value of the jewels presented by Senor Oviedo, the Cuban, whose approaching marriage has caused great excitement in all fashionable circles, is only $18,000, instead of $,000,000, as was at first reported.

They have at last invented a machine that will work button holes

"The only liberty cap," says a clever and witty author "is a night cap In it men visit, one-third of their lives, the land of sleep—the only land where they are free and equal"

A PATENT COMPARISON. Love without money has been compared to a pair of shiny leather boots without soles.

A Mistaken Idea.

The pro-slavery organs allege that the Republican party has repudiated, or will soon repudiate the doctrine of Congressional power to exclude slavery from the territories. Our hunker friends may rest assured, however, that this sound Constitutional doctrine of the fathers will never be abandoned for the crude squatter sovereignty theories of the day We do not say that the party will refuse to work for the interests of freedom by other means and instrumentalities, or that it will refuse to labor with those who will work for the same end by other means. But that the party will be so inconsistent, or so is urged, as deliberately to abandon or deny a prominent and fundamental doctrine of its creed, we think the hunker organs themselves do not believe The doctrine of national sovereignty in the Territories will be insisted upon by the Republicans whenever an occasion shall arise where its enforcement is necessary to the success of freedom and the defeat of slavery propagandism And such an occasion will certainly arise—for now slave Territories will inevitably be demanded If pure squatter sovereignty is recognized by the Republicans and admitted to be sound doctrine, it will make it necessary for them to agree to future extensions of slavery in Mexican territories to be purchased or conquered hereafter for the benefit of the oligarchy—Countries now free by their local law would become slaveholding, as in the case of Texas and New Mexico—and against this we should certainly appeal to the power of Congress, and exert the utmost strength of the party to exercise that power

The Edinburg's Collision with an Iceberg

The following extract of a letter from a lady who was on board the steamship Edinburg at her collision with an iceberg in June last, has been sent us for publication The letter is dated "Edinburg, Scotland, July 15th

"Our steamer struck the iceberg on the morning of June 7th, at 11 o'clock, and at first we thought she had sustained no damage, and were congratulating each other on our narrow escape, when the terrible cry came, 'The ship is sinking!' We all went on deck, and found them preparing the small boats with the greatest haste We were numbered for the boats, and were ready with our things on, to take to them at any time Oh! it was a dreadful time I shall never forget it I thought of my friends at home—that I should never see them more, and I though too of my dear husband, waiting and waiting for the arrival of the steamer, and nothing heard from her But I could not shed a tear In the midst of the scene there was no confusion Every one seemed calm and composed The gentlemen were all called to the pumps, and as night came on the ladies went into the saloon, where we remained all night with our bonnets and shawls on, ready to leave the ship if the water should gain upon us It was a long night, I can assure you The fog was so dense, we were liable to strike another iceberg any moment. Toward morning it commenced raining, and it fairly poured down. The poor men were wet through, and so fatigued, we were afraid they would give out. The water was gaining, and even the faint hope we had were fast leaving us But soon morning dawned—the rain ceased and the fog cleared away and before 12 o'clock, the sun was shining beautifully I think the sun never broke in such splendor to my eyes, before The captain now took an observation, and found we were only 17 miles from St John's N O, what a change in the countenances of all! And well there might be, for we knew that as we were so near land, we could get there soon, even if obliged to take the small boats We saw a great many more icebergs but the weather was so clear, we could easily avoid them I always had a great desire to see an iceberg, but I have seen enough now I am perfectly satisfied with such sights. We arrived in the harbor of St John's about 7 o'clock in the evening"

Gold from the Graveyards—The Indian Images

The latest manifestation of the gold fever has broken out in the graveyards of the Indians who have buried in the provinces of Chiriqui and Veragua, in New Grenada, near the southern boundary of Costa Rica

The New York Herald prints the following extracts from a private letter dated from Bocas del Toro, July 8th—

"I hasten to inform you of a momentous event which has just occurred in this country With in the last three weeks a new Eldorado has been discovered For many years the Indian cemeteries, have been ransacked for grind-stones and earthenjars, but now it has been found that by digging down four or five feet, golden figures and images in large numbers can be obtained, such as sapos, iguanas, camarones, boriguboras, aguinas, palomas, platos-y-otras, figures de oro, so that in three weeks time upwards of $50,000 in value of pure gold has been extracted I and I has remained deserted, and all our friends have gone to the placers

Among the curiosities already taken out from the sepulchres, I have just seen a snake, with a sapo in the mouth, a figure of a man and one of a boy riding a mache de monte All that remains now is to find the source from whence all this gold was originally obtained Already several parties have sent for miners to go in search of the original gold diggings I hope your health is good, and that you may be among the first to take advantage of this blessing which Providence has reserved for us

Many letters corroborate the details of this astonishing wealth Even Senor B—— has gone off with ten men, to whom he pays a dollar a day and their board, besides a dollar for each huaqueria they may find for him Up to now all are flocking to this one cemetery, which is half a mile from Bugaba, C——, who lives at Boaga, writes me fully about the prodigious richness of these discoveries, and urges me to come at once One man, who formerly lived with me found in one day, six gold plates, weighing each a pound. Another found a shark, twelve inches long, and other relics of solid gold, such as tigers, bats, butterflies, deer, and numerous objects, such as B—— sent you two years ago, only much larger, some the same size and some smaller It is not in the coffins, made of rough stone, that these things are found, excepting the few ornaments placed on the Indian's body at the time of death, but it is at the bottom of the stone where the earthly treasure of the Indian at the time of his death is buried This fact, now proven, explains why hitherto in the immense cemetery of Bogneta, which covers all the Savannah, nothing but stone figures and curious vases and other stone implements have been found These objects were always placed alongside the coffin, according to Indian custom, and this have seen done myself at Indian funerals when I have been among them in these very mountains. Was this simply a Spanish ceremony, or for the purpose of hiding their wealth from the greedy Spaniard? B—— told me that when he showed the gold images he sent you to the Indian chief of the Blancos it caused him great emotion, and the cacique was thrown into fits by the fear, as he expressed it, that some Indian had betrayed the secret, but this was allayed when he heard that it was only by accident they were found.

The mail carrier tells me that at Lolega alone the people have got already about one and a half quintals of gold in these images (1150 lbs.)

[Since copying the above, we have been gratified with a sight of some of the golden images taken from the Indian cemeteries, as related in the accounts They were exhibited to us by Mr Bacon of the firm of Baldwin & Bacon of this city—having been brought here by a relative of his, who recently came from the Isthmus.—There are four images in this lot, three of them representing animals—one an ugly likeness of a toad, about three inches long and the others representations of some nondescript beings. The fourth is a hideous human image, about three inches high, after the fashion of the little chinese idols The gold of which these images are made seems to be mingled with some portion of alloy.]

Meeting of the Grand Division S of T

The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance met in Bangor, Wednesday, July 27th, in the Hall of Bangor Division, the meeting was called to order and presided over during its whole session by G W P Carleton, who has never failed to fill his chair during the whole of every session since he was elected He is a good presiding officer, prompt in deciding points of order, courteous and obliging, and generally correct in his rulings He honors the position he fills

The Grand Scribe reported about 1200 members, with about the same number of visitors admitted during the quarter, and fifteen new Divisions, with a total of 117 Divisions, and about 4600 members and 3000 visitors

The usual business of the session was transacted with unusual dispatch and with but little discussion But the Report of the Committee on the State of the Order elicited quite a long debate, some portions of which, especially the speeches of Bros. Crosby, Hoben, Colby and Jackson were very spirited and interesting—C S Crosby, Esq, of Bangor, in the negative of the report, and Rev W G Hoben of Yarmouth, in the affirmative, made the two best speeches of the session—indeed the two best we ever heard on the floor of the G D They were both eloquent speakers, both logical debaters, both good prohibitionists, and only differed in opinion in regard to the expediency of the Sons of Temperance enforcing the law as an Order—indeed no one expressed an anti-prohibition sentiment, nor we doubt if any was entertained by any member of that body

The following portion of the report was the subject of the discussion

Your Committee are convinced that humanity and intelligence (morality) and religion, and the eternal principles of right and justice demand that the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage must be prohibited by a law thoroughly devised and rigidly enforced—that the crowning effort of our glorious cause prize is the universal adoption of a Prohibitory Law, whereby the further depredations of the accursed liquor traffic upon the best interests of humanity in time and eternity may be staayed—and that to inaugurate such an era is the legitimate mission of our Order, to aid in the accomplishment of so desirable an object the imperative duty devolving upon every true representative and faithful Son of Temperance]

By vote, by Divisions, (23 to 9,) the report was amended by striking out that portion which we have enclosed in brackets and inserting instead thereof the following

That the true mission and leading purpose of the Order of the Sons of Temperance is to create and sustain such a moral sentiment in the community, with reference to the traffic in and use of strong drinks as a beverage, as will secure practical obedience to the great principle of total abstinence from all that can intoxicate in every member of the community and the entire suppression of such traffic

The following resolution was unanimously adopted

Resolved That the G S be and hereby is directed to convey the thanks of this Grand Division to the proprietors of the steamer Daniel Webster to B H Lush, Esq, Superintendent of the Kennebec and Portland Railroad, and to Joseph Eaton Esq, President of the Kennebec and Pemaquid Railroad for their kindness and courtesy in allowing the members of this body to pass to and be returned from Bangor at half fare

The members of the Grand Division from abroad were very courteously and cordially entertained by the brothers in Bangor

The next session is the annual one, and will be held in Portland, in October

KNITTING WORK —A WEB OF MANY TEXTURES Wrought by Ruth Partington. Boston Brown, Taggard & Chase 800 pp

If there is a volume in the English language, containing more genuine and genial humor, or more effectual quiet thrusts at the follies and foibles of the day, than this collection of Mrs Partington's sayings, and those of her celebrated Partington family, we have yet to encounter

It has specialty of wit and humor, Mr Shillaber (to whom the Partingtons and their coadjutors, Dr Spooner, Old Roger and Wideawake are combined) is entirely unapproachable He has had many imitators, or attempted imitators, in his character of Mrs Partington—but none have ever approached within a long day's journey of the original They have, indeed, utterly failed in the true conception of the character—mistaking the mere mechanical play upon words, for the essence of the art which has in it an exquisite adaptedness and similarity, and at the same time diversity, of ideas as well as of words. The faculty of making the combinations with the requisite delicacy and precision of touch seems to have been conferred solely upon the original and genuine Mrs Partington, and one can no more rob her of her glory, than he can sacrilegiously divest her of her cap and specs, and expect her to remain the same venerable personage

The volume contains the best stories, sketches, and sayings of Mr Shillaber in his assumed characters, and is adequately illustrated with engravings by Hoppin Altogether it is the most readable book of the season, for a warm and leisure day, or as a pleasant traveling companion

SARZA We have long supposed this celebrated drug had come to be an exploded humbug, but we are assured by those skilled in the healing art, that not the Sarsaparilla itself is to be blamed for this consideration, but the miserable worthless preparation of it, that have been palmed off upon the community—preparations which contain about as much of its virtues as they do of gold dust. It is a commercial fact that almost all of the Sarsaparil is gathered in the world is consumed in the old countries of Europe, where the science of medicine has reached its highest perfection, and where they know the best what to employ for the mastery of disease. Hence we are glad to find that we are now to have a compound of this excellent alterative, which can be relied on, and our community will not need assured that any thing Dr Ayer makes is worthy of their confidence. He has been for years engaged in eliminating this remedy (see adv columns) disclaiming to make it the "king of cures" which cheaply add the crowning glory to his already enviable reputation

FLORAL CONCERT The juvenile singers of Oldtown and Milford, under the management of a very efficient instructor, Miss Wilder of this city, will give a Floral Concert at Codman Hall, Oldtown, on Thursday evening next We have no doubt it will be an occasion of great interest.

DEAFNESS We would call attention to the card of Dr A Young in our columns, whose recent visit to our city was welcomed by many visitors who sought his aid Dr Y has made the ear a subject of special study, from the fact that his own infirmity in this particular, from early childhood, has induced him to give it attention to Aural Surgery He displays earnest interest in the treatment of diseases of the ear and those who had the pleasure of consulting him will bear witness to his kindness and sympathy, as well as frankness in recommending to his patients the treatment they should follow Dr Young is a Bangor man, and has many relatives and friends in the city who cannot but rejoice at his own improvement and that he has so industriously labored to study out the many causes of deafness in order to ameliorate the condition of the unfortunate In the hands of Dr Young all such unfortunates will find a ready sympathiser and friend, and a gentleman whose advice may be sought after with confidence

BORN WITHOUT ARMS Mr S G K Nellis, another of nature's wonderful productions, who having been born without arms, must of course write with his feet if anything, sends us a letter written by himself, in which he says he shall soon give an exhibition in Bangor The following notice is from an exchange

We were present at the performance of Mr S G K Nellis, at Horton's Hall, and were no less amused than surprised at the astonishing dexterity with which he makes his feet supply the place of hands. Mr Nellis is one of those to whom nature seemed rejected to place the most paradoxical qualities. Although born without arms he is well formed, sprightly, naturally intelligent, and well educated The feats he performs even surpass the announcements on his bills, marvellous as they may appear!

NOT EXACTLY A WHALE —Capt. Willard, who went cruising in search of the whale recently seen near Portland Light, returned with a horse-mackerel and a big sun-fish The Portlanders are exhibiting, with a commendable pride, these specimens of the products of Casco Bay

It was cut out in the editor's absence. It should have been credited to the Argus.

The alarm of fire last evening was without any good cause, so far as we could learn

IN CITY COUNCIL,

THURSDAY EVENING, Aug 11

At a special meeting of the City Council, called to receive and consider the Report of the Committee on Streets, upon the subject of proposed alterations in the street leading from Kenduskeag Avenue to the Bridge at Drummond's Mills, a report favorable to said alterations was received accompanied by the following order

Ordered, That the Street Engineers be directed to widen Harlow Street, commencing at a point in the easterly line thereof and 68 feet from the iron monument, nearly opposite the foundry of Messrs Hinckley & Egery—thence in a straight line to strike the monument near the southerly end of the Drummond's Mills Bridge; and on the easterly line of the street as run in 1846—and to assess such damages and apportion such betterments as may be sustained, and to report a suitable grade for the same

The Committee report the this widening and straightening of said street can be accomplished at a net expense (over and above the necessary repairs on the street as now laid out) of $671—that the public convenience will ultimately require the alterations asked for (as per petition of L J Morse et als —and that they can be made at a much more economical rate of expense now than at a future time

The report was accepted, and the order passed

MASONIC At a stated communication of Benevolent Lodge No 87, A F & A M, held at Freemason's Hall in Carmel, on Wednesday evening Aug, 10th, A L 5859, A D 1859, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted

It having pleased the Supreme Architect of the Universe to call hence the spirit of our beloved Brother Samuel S Dakin, the first Junior Warden and acting Treasurer of this Lodge, to a seat as worthy as the East of the Lodge of Lodges above, therefore

Resolved, That in the decease of Bro Samuel S Dakin Benevolent Lodge is called to mourn the death of one to whose ceaseless activity and shining Masonic virtues this Lodge has from its first institution been greatly indebted for that measure of success with which it has been favored

Resolved, That while we feel great pleasure in the recollection of the many happy hours of Masonic labor in which we have participated with our departed Brother, the joy of those labors will long be subdued by the sight of his vacant place in our mystic circle

Resolved, That the sympathies of this Lodge be tended to the widow and relations of our deceased Brother, while we refer them for yet deeper sympathy than even a brother's love can supply—that great light which shone upon the path of our Brother and their Companion and Friend is the silent tomb

Resolved That in testimony of respect for our departed Brother, the furniture and jewels of this Lodge be clothed in mourning for three months

Resolved That the Secretary be directed to enter these resolutions at large upon the minutes, and cause a copy of the same to be communicated to the family of our deceased Brother, and to the newspapers of Bangor for publication. Attest

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

A COMPOUND REMEDY of the purest and most concentrated extracts that can be made Prepared on the principle that the Sarsaparilla and other combinations with which it is usually compounded are in most cases of still greater virtue when used in concentrated form than when used in the crude state of the ordinary decoctions and infusions generally administered by other manufacturers. Hence we have prepared this extract to meet the demand for a more powerful alterative than any of the preparations of Sarsaparilla now in market, and to afford the sick and suffering a more certain remedy than any other blood purifier yet offered to the public. We do not claim for it the virtues of a panacea, but we do claim that it will cure more of the diseases for which a blood purifier is required than any other preparation of its kind now known. We do not claim that it will cure the sick when all else has failed, but we do claim that it will cure more of the sick than any other medicine. We do not claim that it will make the old young, but we do claim that it will remove the causes of many diseases which make the old appear old before their time. We do not claim that it will make the barren fruitful, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many women barren. We do not claim that it will make the weak strong by any magic power, but we do claim that it will remove the diseases which have made many of our best men and women the most miserable of mortals. We do not claim that it will make the ugly handsome, but we do claim that it will remove the eruptions, pimples, blotches and humors which have made many of our fellow citizens the objects of universal attention and inquiry. We do not claim that it will make the fat lean by any thing in the world, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many of our fellow citizens so fat that they could not see, hear, or walk without inconvenience. We do not claim that it will make the hair grow on the bald heads of our fellow citizens, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many of our fellow citizens bald-headed before their time. We do not claim that it will make the deaf hear by any thing in the world, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many of our fellow citizens deaf. We do not claim that it will make the blind see by any thing in the world, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many of our fellow citizens blind. We do not claim that it will make the lame walk by any thing in the world, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many of our fellow citizens lame. We do not claim that it will make the old young, but we do claim that it will remove the causes which have made many of our fellow citizens

TO THE

Daily Whig & Courier.

WASHINGTON, 11Th.

The delegates representing the railroads of southern or middle route between Washington and New Orleans, commenced their session here to-day. Their business is with reference to the transportation of the great mail from Portland, Maine, to New Orleans, and to agree upon a joint bid for performance of the service. As the Orange and Alexandria Railroad to Lynchburg and the remaining part of the Mississippi Central Railroad will be finished by the first of January, at which time the next contract is to be made.

These delegates confidently say they will be able to carry the mails between New Orleans and New York in three and a half days. Another object of the present meeting is to make uniform arrangements concerning the general passenger and freight business.

The national Teachers Association, in session here, have elected J. W. Bulkley, of Brooklyn, N. Y., for president for the ensuing year, and decided to publish a monthly periodical in furtherance of the cause of education.

This afternoon the delegates had a pleasant time in visiting President Buchanan.

Commander Wm. Smith has been ordered to the command of the Receiving ship at Boston vice Livingston detached.

The name of the U. S. steamer Metacomet now on the Brazil station has been changed to the Pulaski.

NEW YORK, 11th.

The Atlantic Telegraph Company have decided to make the conductor of the next cable of six copper wires twisted and of about six times the size of that of the old cable. There will be no outside covering of iron wire as on the cable laid last year, except for a few hundred miles at each end. The new cable is to be made, laid down and guaranteed in all respects, and expected to be in order for business early next summer. Mr. Cyrus W. Field of this city, occupies two columns of some of the New York papers with a full statement of affairs of the Company, and it is understood the American public will have an opportunity to subscribe to the stock guaranteed by British government.

The Post has good reason to say that the exchange of the Cortez and Uncle Sam for the Adriatic is no condition of the present negotiations between Mr. Vanderbilt and Pacific Mail Co., which, however, promise to result in the discontinuance of competition.

Mr. Garrison arrived to-day in the North Star.

Steamer Star of the West with California dates of 20th ult arrived this evening about 10 o'clock. Her news has been anticipated by the North Star.

DETROIT, Aug. 11.

It has been officially determined not to close Sault Ste Marie Canal for repairs, as contemplated, during the present season of navigation.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.

The losses by the fire this morning are as follows:—Boyle & Co., $150,000, insured $75,000; Crane, Breed & Co., and Barstow, Breed & Co., $20,000, fully insured; the Rectifying house of S. N. Pike was almost wholly destroyed, loss $20,000, insured probably $10,000. Several firemen were injured by falling of walls during the fire, the water in the cisterns became exhausted; but for this the destruction of property would have been less. The whole steam fire department were on duty, and water had to be conveyed for a distance of half a mile. The origin of the conflagration is unknown.

Drowned.—Charles, H. son of Seth and Catherine Field, was drowned in the Little Duck Pond, Windham, on the 6th inst. His cousin, who saw him struggle up in the water, swam towards him and grasped him by the wrist, and after swimming some ten feet towards the shore they both sank, when to save his own life, he was compelled to leave him to his fate. Mr. Field, the youngest son of Mr. Luther Dana of this city, was drowned in North Gray on Tuesday last. He was missed in the forenoon, and search being made, his body was found in a brook which forms a part of what is called Royal River.—Portland Advertiser.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Sunday last, Chas. Coos, of West Camden, and Oliver Ladd, of Long Island, were drowned while engaged in getting lillies in Rocky Pond. They had waded out into the water some distance, and became entangled in the long stems of the lillies, and in struggling to extricate themselves were unfortunately dragged down so as to occasion their drowning.—Their death is sad and sisters stood on the shore and saw the sad sight. Mr. Coos was 22 years of age, Mr. Ladd was 21.—Rockland Democrat.

WORSHIP AND SERMONS. Is it really true, as has often been said within the last ten years, that our Protestant congregations chiefly assemble to hear sermons on Sunday, almost entirely forgetful or seeming to neglect that reverence, homage, worship, and praise due Him to whom, most of our public places of religious worship are consecrated, at least in form? If so, is this harmony with the spirit of christianity as set forth by the early church? Is this modern longing after great sermons, and thirsting for novelties, and "a broad church," such as we now witness, right? It strikes me, Mr. Editor, that it goes to demonstrate, that after all there was more truth than fiction in the remark of the devout old man of God, "I fear lest Protestants in separating themselves from the old Catholic Church, have brought with them the pulpit, leaving behind the altar with its sacrifice of prayer, devout worship and christian worship."

Question on Sunday morning in many a church—"Who is going to preach to-day?" not "Who is going to praise to-day?" or "Who is going to worship God in the beauty of holiness, were entirely unsought for in the search for novelty!!!

At noon, or evening, the subject of conversation is the sermon and dress, each receiving a liberal share of satire and ridicule, as if the minister and a fancy quartette choir were to furnish an entertainment for those who sit, or repose upon costly, comfortably cushioned cushion seats for an hour—as it is fast becoming fashionable to either to stand or kneel in prayer, because deemed more comfortable to sit, in consequence of a hard week's work, which consists chiefly it may be, of fashionable visiting and gossiping.

People who go to church to worship God rarely inquire who is going to preach; not that they are indifferent touching this point, but rather that they have a higher purpose in going to the sanctuary on the Lord's day, than to hear sermons. Going to this spirit of sermon hearing on Sunday, the heart of many a preacher is pained. Suppose he exchanges with a brother who is less gifted than himself, and because on this, the notice having been given in the Saturday's paper, many of his parishioners take the opportunity either to stay at home, or to go and seek entertainment elsewhere; because Mr. So and so is "so very dull," they cannot endure him.

If the visitor being present, asks, as prompted by courtesy, a visiting brother to preach, who is less eloquent than himself, would it be civil for the congregation or any portion of it, to turn their backs upon the preacher, and leave to seek a more agreeable entertainment elsewhere?

Would it not, on the whole, be better to attend church for worship, and study rather to live as well as the most ordinary preacher teaches, than to be seeking for novelties and pleasing entertainments? This is the most ready way to unfit persons to enjoy Christian worship, prayer and praise.—Boston Transcript.

A curious case was decided on Saturday, in the Court of Common Pleas, in New York, in respect to the right of a man to change his name. Mr. John Snook applied to that Court under an act passed 1847, for an order changing his name to John Pike. The motion was denied, but after a learned examination, both of the law respecting names and the history of their origin, the judge came to the conclusion that a man may change his name without order of the Court.

NEGATIVE PROOF.—It is said by the first critics that a great poet is discerned in his knowing when not to write. It is said of Louis Napoleon, by his admirers, that he is a perfect master of the art of fortification. He evidently knows when to let a fortification alone.—Punch.

Ladies' Gaiter Boots.

A little glove stirs up my heart as tides stir up the ocean,
And snow-white muslin, when it fits, wakes many a notion;
All sorts of lady fixings thrill my feelings, as they'r orter,
But little female gaiter-boo are death, and nothing shorter!

And just to put you on your guard,
I'll give you, short and orief,
A small fistical experience,
Which filled my heart with grief.
Last summer, at the Bangor House,
I stopped a week or more,
And marked two "boot-leg" every morn
Before my neighbor's door;
Two boots with patent leather tips—
Two boots which seemed to say,
"An angel knts around in us"—
They stole my heart away.
And often in my nightly dreams
They swept before my sight,
A lady growing out of them,
As flowers grow from a vase.
But, ah! but more I saw a sight
Which stunk me like a skunk,
Some other name was on the book—
Those boots were not alone!
A great tall pair of other boots
Were standing by their side,
And off they walked that afternoon
And with them walked a bride.

Ladies, comment is unnecessary! Those Gaiter Boots same from

SLATE!

THE Bangor and Piscataquis Slate Company have completed their arrangements for the manufacture of Slate, are prepared to receive orders for any dimension which may be required, from a pound weight to a "Billiard Table."

The distinct variety of uses to which this article may be applied, will readily occur to the artisan, and indeed to every observer of the progress of modern improvement in the arts of life.

Counters for Shops, Shelves, Meat Ice, Table for Printers, Black Boards for Schools, etc at one, the many purposes for which this article will be in demand.

The peculiar texture or grain of the stone from the Brownville quarry, being entirely free from veins, garnets, or cross grains, which are not only injurious to almost all other slates, renders the surface of the manufactured article smooth and true; and it is believed, and probably will not be denied, that it is the best Slate in the known world.

Having recently filled an order for Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde, of the Whig and Courier, they have kindly permitted their Tables to be examined at their office.

The Company can also supply almost any quantity and size of Roofing Slate, and solicit orders in any of the branches of their business. Specimens at their office. Apply to

PATENT SOLID COTTON BELTING.

HAVING received the Agency for the sale of this Belting, the subscriber would call the attention of Mill Owners, Machinists, and others interested in the use of an efficient and cheap Belt to examine which may be seen at his counting-room, Lower Steamboat (Coe's) Wharf.

This Belting is formed by weaving several layers of Duck solid in one body, and like leather it yields to the strain in all its parts, and gives a great deal of power over every other kind in passing the pulley. It is especially adapted for open Belts, and for heavy and main Belts, while its elasticity allows it to be used on very small pulleys, and where quick speed is required. It can be made of any desired length without lap or joint. The cost of this Belting being about one half that of leather, will recommend it to the attention of every customer. Any width, from 1 to 28 inches, furnished, and extra width and thickness made to order.

California Steamers,

Carrying the United States Mail.

5th and 20th of each month.

Through Tickets, including the transit of the Isthmus, at the Panama R. R.

On account of the numerous frauds and impositions on travellers, those bound to California are advised to buy Tickets at the only authorized Agencies of the United States Mail Line, as follows:

At the Office of the Postmaster General, the United States Mail Steamers are built expressly for speed and comfort, and are commanded by experienced officers.

Passengers are landed at the Railroad Depot, Aspinwall, and conveyed across to the Pacific Steamers without extra expense. This is the only line giving entire Through Tickets, and enabling to detach on the Isthmus.

Transit made in four hours, entirely by daylight, thus avoiding the great exposure by night in open boats to fever and ague, and 200 miles of dangerous lake and river navigation, over rocks and shoals.

Arrangements have now been completed, so that the regularly U. S. Pacific Mail Steamer will leave Panama on the arrival of the Atlantic Mails and passengers, thus securing passengers by the Mail Line a safe and short passage, with the greatest comfort and safety to health.

☞ Tickets must be signed by one of the Company's agents before they will be recognized by the agent at Panama, and tickets thus signed can be obtained of the only authorized Agent for the U. S. and Pacific Mail Steamship Companies, in this city.

DR. MOWE'S

VEGETABLE BITTERS

THE Public is here presented, with a new Tonic, Alterative, and Cordial Bitter, compounded by Dr. Mowe, of Lowell, the inventor and proprietor of Mowe's celebrated Cough Balsam. These Bitters are purely vegetable, as is testified by the distinguished chemist by whom they were submitted for analysis. They are both pleasant to the palate and healthy to the stomach, agreeable as a beverage, and efficacious as a medicine. They profoundly cleanse the richest and most aromatic liquor in flavor and color. Those in want of an appetite before eating, and those afflicted with biliousness or dyspepsia after taking food, with sour stomach, general debility of the system, and poor blood, will find relief in these Bitters instant relief. Travellers will find in them a curative for sudden illness. They are superior to any bitters in the market. As a protection against counterfeits these Bitters have been copyrighted by the District Court of the United States. The following certificates, from an eminent chemist and a distinguished physician of Boston, furnish a sufficient guaranty of the quality of these Bitters:—

Boston, August 4, 1858.

DR. DANIEL MOWE,

Dear Sir:—Having submitted the sample of vegetable Bitters received from you, to the most careful chemical analysis, I am unable to detect the slightest trace of any other, than purely vegetable ingredients in them.

I know of no medical composition likely to be more beneficial as a tonic, cordial and alterative than your Vegetable Bitters.

Very respectfully yours,

CHARLES T. CARNEY, Chemist,
136 Washington street, Boston.

Boston, August 4, 1858.

DR. DANIEL MOWE,

My Dear Sir:—I have given the sample of Bitters received from you a careful examination, and find it to be composed of only such vegetable ingredients as are highly prized by my profession for their tonic, medical properties. The formula submitted to me shows the compound to be a well selected combination of valuable medical agents.

Yours, very truly, &c.,

J. O. PHELPS, M. D.,
26 Winter street.

WORLD ASTOUNDED!

BY THE

Great Cures

Made by DR. NORCROSS'

CELEBRATED REMEDIES!

Thousands who have been laid low by disease will attest to their healing powers. By the use of them they have been restored to health and vigor, and their gratitude is unbounded. O, could the world be wise—throw aside the poisonous and deleterious medicines they now use, which serve to reduce their physical strength, and bring on weakness and debility, and numerous other troubles—and take the long sought for medicines, which operate upon the whole system like a charm, and which are emphatically as every one who ever used them will testify.—

A sovereign balm for every wound,
A cordial for our fears.

O, for ones be wise—don't longer delay. Delays are dangerous, and while you are taking the poisonous drugs, the disease may have so far progressed as to make it too late for hope. Now is the time to buy and try my medicines, and again to enjoy the blessings of health. Try them—and you will never have cause to repent of it.

Dr. A. L. Norcross' Medicines.

Sugar Coated Vegetable Bilious Pills.

In bringing this Medicine before the public, I have no desire to extol its medical properties above what it honestly deserves. I have used them in my practice for the last twenty years, and have ever found them to be a sure remedy in eradicating disease from the system. Thousands who have used them would willingly attest to their healing qualities. Therefore I have no hesitation in warranting them to be the best Cathartic now before the public.—These Pills have more than a simple claim on the public, for the following reasons: They are purely vegetable. They cause no pain or griping, although they are very active in their operations, and are perfectly harmless for male or female in any condition, for they do not weaken, but strengthen the whole system, by exciting every organ to a healthy action. They are, also, a sure remedy for all diseases that arise from a impurity of the blood—such as inflammation of the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Spleen, Bladder; Rheumatism, Bowel Complaints, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Languor, Debility, and last of all, warranted a sure cure for Dyspepsia, in all its forms if they are taken judiciously. Numerous certificates might be had testifying to their good properties; but I feel willing to let them stand on their own merits. Single box 25 cts—5 boxes $1.

JAUNDICE ELIXIR.

To purify, cleanse, and strengthen the Blood, and cause a healthy action of the Liver. Good in all cases of Debility. Warranted a sure cure for Jaundice. Price 50 cents.

GERMAN PILE SALVE.

This Salve is a safe and sure cure for this most distressing, and in some cases, dangerous disorder, which has baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of this country. It is prepared wholly of vegetable and animal substances, and can be used with perfect safety in all cases. Those afflicted with this most painful complaint, sufferers to health and usefulness, that the proprietors feel it a duty they owe to the public for their generous patronage bestowed upon this Salve, to make it accessible to rich and poor, that all afflicted may avail themselves of its healing qualities.

Price 50 cents per box.

CROTON LINIMENT,

For Chronic and Rheumatic Complaints.—This Liniment is a sure remedy for Headache, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Spinal Affections, Palsy, Chilblains, &c. Let the rheumatic, halt, lame and palsied invalid examine its qualities, and they will not be disappointed. Years of study and investment on hand, enables the proprietor of the Croton Liniment to furnish a remedy extraordinary in its power over disease, no matter of how long standing. Price 50 cents.

Prepared only by the subscriber, at his Laboratory, at Brown's Corner, Vassalboro', Maine, to whom all orders must be directed. ☞ None genuine but those purchased of me or my agents.

American & Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington (under the Act of 1837.)

76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,

BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; as so, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers for Drawings for Patents executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventors—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but the right of inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any other. Models, can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below, given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add, that he has abundant reason to believe, that no other agency, that is not office of the kind, are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of law, patent, mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."—CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"It is no no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

Mr. R. H. Eddy: am made for me THIRTEEN application on behalf of my clients, which patents have been granted, and that is large number. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

WOLCOTT TALBOTT."

From Sept. 17th, 1857, to June 17th, 1858, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected application, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
